DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 1-27 recite a method, a system, and a machine-readable medium with instructions for "reducing power use in a device capable of operating at two or more power levels" [claim 1, lines 1-2]. As recited, the claims are indefinite because it is not clear how the recited steps accomplish the reduction of power in a device capable of operating at two or more power levels, as recited in the preamble. In particular, claims 1-27 recite steps for selecting a power management timer setting from a range of power management timer settings. There is no recitation of any steps that show how a reduction of power is achieved in the device, either by using the power management timer settings, or by any other means.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claims 1-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

Claims 1-27 recite steps for selecting a power management timer setting from a range of power management timer settings. As recited, the claims merely present a series of steps/computations without a useful, concrete, and tangible result. In particular, the result of the recited steps is merely a selection of a value based on a series of calculations/comparisons. Since there is no recitation of any subsequent steps that show the result of the selection step being used to perform some task that results in a useful, concrete, tangible result, the claims are judged to be non-statutory.
